

One is never too old to learn.

Let good fellows all come and join our Salon,
to meet and make friends, to study and learn.

We give cheer to members striving against the march of time by developing proficiency in English, written or oral.

With a view to promoting global understanding,
we feel the need to brush up our debating skills
to a standard acceptable to the international community.

It's a persuasive art.

What else do we need? A lot of study and creative thinking.

We believe facility with language alone is not enough.

Come and join our Salon,
here you will meet friends empathetic and warm.

Union Club English Salon
December 20, 2004